The Tails of Comets.

It is well known that the tails of comets stream away from the sun and are of very low density. Various hypotheses have been propounded to explain their movement away from the sun, but the most promising is that of a Russian physicist, who ascribes it to the repulsion of the solar radiation acting on a mass of extreme tenuity, while, on the other hand, the attraction of gravitation operates between the solar mass and the solid nucleus of the comet.
 The same physicist accounts for the mysterious terrestrial phenomenon of the zodiacal light in the same way. He believes that the earth has also a tail of cosmic dust, not luminous of itself, but by reflecting the sunlight.—Public Opinion.

Following is the list of officers: Co. A.—Capt. C. W. Ziegler; 1st Lieut. A. Gartenberg; 2d Lieut. Karl Klemme.
 Co. B.—Capt. Hugh Gunn; 1st Lieut. Arthur Brown; 2d Lieut. L. T. Kenake.

An Island Paradise.

The Canadian newspapers have been pointing with pride to a recent publication in the city of Toronto. The publisher's name is Messrs. Hart and Riddell, and the book in question is entitled "An Island Paradise." The author, Mr. H. Spencer Howell, a gentleman who has traveled a great deal, spent some weeks in this country, and this volume is the result of his observations.

In speaking of the book one journal says: "This book is in every sense a credit to the Canadian press. * * * tasteful and beautiful, the contents are in keeping with the externalities of the book. Mr. Howell writes like a man who has his eyes and heart open to the light and glory of this world. He appreciates the scenes that have met his view, and he describes them in a style marked by clearness, purity, vigor and felicity of expression. We have not found a dull page in the book. A full and vivid description of place and people. * * * Mr. Howell had the hardihood not only to go to the brink of the fearful Lake of Fire in Hawaii, he descended into the inner basin, to the flaming verge of the seething, swelling lava. * * * It is a capital Christmas book. You will read it with pleasure and find it instructive."
 The book can be ordered through the local newsdealers.

The Press and Electrical Progress.

The editor of the Electrical Review says: "The daily newspaper men of to-day do not apparently realize the possibilities of the long-distance telephone. Every important event could be telephoned by the observing reporter direct to the composing room and be put in type, sentence by sentence, as delivered into the transmitter at the scene. A foot ball, base ball or boxing match or horse race could thus be fully reported, the quick-eyed scribe telling into his telephone, which he could carry about with him attached to a coil of wire, every incident as it occurred, and the newspaper at the other end could put the matter in type as fast as received."

As a result of the trial test of electric launches, made on the lagoons of the World's Fair grounds during the past summer, says the Philadelphia Record, it was found that the launch Electra was best suited to fulfill all the requirements of passenger traffic on the waterways of the grounds, and, as a consequence, fifty boats of this design will be built at once. During the trial the Electra made a continuous run of ten miles, carrying a load of twenty-five people. The speed on the lagoons was limited to 6 miles an hour, and for a short distance she made from 9 to 11 miles an hour. This interesting vessel has a length over all of 34 feet, with a breadth of beam of 6 feet. She carries 78 storage cells, each of 125 ampere hours capacity, developing a total energy of 2250 watt hours. The propeller shaft is of rolled Tobin bronze. The electric launch Coreya, recently built for J. J. Astor, is fitted up with the same electrical apparatus and machinery as the Electra.

The great four-master Roanoke sailed from New York to San Francisco last month. The Roanoke is the biggest sailing ship that flies the Stars and Stripes, and the biggest wooden sailing ship afloat. She carries the largest cargo of general merchandise ever taken by any sailing ship. She was launched at Bath, Me., on August 22 last. She is 311 feet on her keel, 330 feet from stem to stern and 370 feet from boom to boom. She is a clipper ship. Her main and mizzen masts measure 198 feet from deck to truck, and her jigger mast is 180 feet high. Her beam measurement is 49 feet and 10 inches, her draught between 26 and 27 feet. When loaded the depth of hold is 29 feet 10 inches. Her gross tonnage is 3549. When all the sails are set she carries 15,000 square yards of canvas. The Roanoke cost $200,000.

"German Syrup"

The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.
 The plague that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expels them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consumptives become germ-proof and well.
